NAB YOUTH WHO VOWS TO KILL F D

STORY ON PAGE 2

King and Queen Ashore!—Amid a crescendo of enthusiasm and the deafening thunder of naval guns, bells and harbor whistles, King George and Queen Elizabeth today set foot on Canadian soil . . . welcomed to Quebec by Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King as thousands lined the ramparts and roared their own greeting. And (above) International News Soundphoto brings you the historic moment!

NAB MAN SEEKING TO KILL F. R.

Suspect With Knife Seized Prowling at White House

WASHINGTON, May 17 (INS)—A 22-year-old Philadelphian, armed with a small knife with which he said he intended to "assassinate the President," was arrested outside of the White House today and taken to a hospital for mental observation.

The Philadelphian, who gave his name as Frank Joseph Towers, was taken into custody by Policeman Walter T. Grimes of the White House guard and then was turned over to the city police.

When arrested, Towers was carrying a large rock which, he told police, he planned to hurl through a window to gain access to the executive mansion.

Asked by police why he intended to attempt to kill the President, Towers replied:

"Because he does not treat the poor people right."

Grimes was on duty in the White House police headquarters when he was notified that a youth had been prowling for two hours outside the grounds.

WANTED TO KILL F. R.

Police were ordered to watch and see that the youth did not climb the fence and attempt to enter the mansion. Grimes accosted the youth and asked what he was doing.

Towers, according to police, replied:

"I'm going to assassinate the President."

Asked what he had in his hand, the youth, according to police, announced:

"It's a rock. I'm going to throw it through a window so I can get inside and kill the President."

KNIFE IN HIS POCKET

Grimes placed Twers under arrest, took him to the guardroom, where he was searched and found to be carrying a small knife, which he said he intended to use to stab the President.

Twers seemed normal and rational in his speech, police said.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—A 22-year-old Philadelphian arrested as he tried to climb a fence at the White House, armed with a rock and pen knife, was held in Gallinger Hospital today for mental observation.

The man, booked as Frank Joseph Towers, told Sergeant Elmer Lewis of the metropolitan police, Lewis said, that he intended to kill President Roosevelt because 'he is not good to the poor' and "what the country needs is a dictator."

NOMINATE GOGUEN AS MARSHAL

Deputy Internal Revenue Collector Joseph Henry Goguen, of Leominster, a political leader among the state's residents of French-Canadian extraction, was nominated for the post of United States Marshal for the Massachusetts District by President Roosevelt today.

The President sent the nomination to the Senate, and confirmation is expected within a few days.

BACKED BY WALSH

With the appointment discussions as to who was to succeed ex-Marshal John J. Murphy, resigned, are ended. The appointment is believed to have been engineered by Senator David I. Walsh, with the help of Postmaster-General Farley.

Goguen had the backing of State Attorney-General Paul A. Dever, and, for a time, was considered the leading candidate for the vacant post of collector of internal revenue for this district.

Principal prospects for that post are Deputy Collector Thomas B. Hassett, Fitchburg, now acting collector, and ex-State Auditor Thomas H. Buckley, defeated for re-election in the Republican state landslide. Buckley is reported to have the backing of Senator Walsh.

PAYS $6000 A YEAR

U. S. marshal pays $6000 a year, collector of internal revenue $1000 a year more.

Murphy, a holdover, notified his superiors that he was not a candidate for reappointment.

After he had relinquished his office, it was found that it was being investigated by the Department of Justice in connection with expense accounts for the transportation of prisoners.

Weigh 3 Plans to Save Trains for South Shore

Three plans to prevent the closing of 47 additional railroad stations serving 7,500,000 South Shore and Cape Cod railroad passengers annually were advanced in financial circles today.

They were:

1—State subsidy for the Old Colony division of the bankrupt New Haven Railroad.

2—An additional flat charge on every passenger.

3—A combination of the subsidy and fare-raising devices.

The proposals were brought forward as a committee of seven appointed by Governor Leverett Saltonstall prepared to study what the chief executive termed a "cricital situation."

Possibility of injunction proceedings in the State Supreme court was forecast by Chairman Francis M. McKeown of the state public utilities commission.

McKeown said that under the law the attorney general has the legal right to apply for an injunction to prevent discontinuance of service as contemplated by the New Haven trustees.

Commuters, stirred to a storm of protest by the proposed closing of 47 additional stations had assurances from Governor Saltonstall that the stations would remain open—at least for the time being.

CALLS PARLEY

Officials representing companies supplying transportation facilities to southeastern Massachusetts, including the Boston Elevated Railway and Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway, were summoned into conference with the citizens committee named by Governor Saltonstall, and headed by Lieutenant-Governor Horace T. Cahill.

Municipal leaders and legislators from the affected area united in protest against the discontinuance,

TROOPER LINKS 7 AT REVERE TRIAL WITH CLUB RAID

Seven out of the 13 defendants on trial in the Revere gambling cases were identified in court today by state troopers as being present when the troopers raided the North Shore Club, Revere, on February 22, 1937.

Identification of all seven was made by Trooper Edgar T. Lindstrom, now of Fairhaven barracks, who said he had frequented the alleged gaming club for four days in plain clothes.

Playing the horses in the club betting room he had bad luck, the trooper explained, but at the blackjack table he managed to hold his own.

This is the club, a converted garage, which the indictments charge former Mayor James M. O'Brien, Police Chief Edward J. Tighe and the police vice-squad protected.

IDENTIFIES SEVEN

Trooper Lindstrom identified as being in the club the following:

"William L. O'Brien, Jr., son of a former president of the Revere chamber of commerce and one of the alleged operators of the club; John Procus, who acted as doorman at the peephole, according to the trooper; Max Gorfein, who operated the dice game, Lindstrom said, and Peter Hegstrom, Sam Langford, Bernard McGarry and Joseph Cortese, who were "in and out of the office," according to the witness.

The witness said he was in the club, as an apparent customer or client, on February 17, 18, 19 and 22. He could not get in Saturday, February 2, because the club had closed that day, apparently as the result of an alarm.

When Lindstrom entered the club on Washington's Birthday there were about 50 persons present, he

Flying Swede Long Overdue on Sea Hop

STOCKHOLM, May 17 (INS)—With unfavorable weather reported from nearly the whole course of his transatlantic route, fears were felt today for the safety of Carl Backman, Swedish aviator now long overdue on a hop from Newfoundland.

No ships at sea, no land lookouts reported sighting the small-single motored monoplane in which the 34-year-old American-trained airman took off from a Newfoundland airport yesterday morning at 5:40 EDT.

In a plane with a range of 3800 miles, Backman hoped to reach his home Townieksand, 2300 miles from Newfoundland, in 29 hours.

Hope was seen in a few possibilities, however, Backman's plane carried no radio, so culd give no reports, and it flew to the north of regular transatlantic ship lanes. Moreover, he might have landed at some isolated spot in the Faeroe Islands or Norway or Sweden.

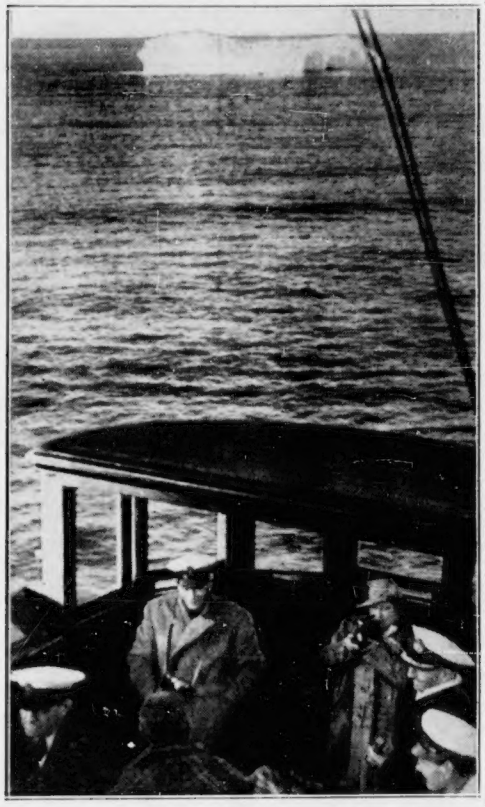
Quebec Throngs Hail Landing of Royalty

QUEBEC, May 17 (AP)—King George VI today became the first reigning British monarch to set foot on North American soil when he and Queen Elizabeth landed at Quebec for their tour of the United States and Canada.



ROYAL FUN—With an iceberg looming in the background, King George and Queen Elizabeth seem unconcerned as they take a few snapshots from the bridge of the Empress of Australia.

International News Soundphoto Service

The King and Queen made their landing from the liner Empress of Australia at 10:31 a. m. (Boston time) to be welcomed by Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King and leaders of Canada and the Province of Quebec.

The ceremonial welcome took place in the shadow of the giant cliffs which General Wolfe's army scaled 180 years ago to win "New France" for the British crown.

King George wore the uniform of an admiral of the fleet. The Queen was dressed in a pearl gray ensemble with an off-the-face hat of the same color.

King George made his way down the flag-decked gangway just a step ahead of his smiling consort.

Fair weather made it possible for the ceremonial welcome to be held out of doors.

GUNS ROAR SALUTE

A dais with two throne chairs against a background of gold was ready as the liner neared the shore.

The great white ship, convoyed by the Canadian destroyers Skeena and Saguenay and the British cruisers Southampton and Glasgow, moved majestically toward the anchorage as three Canadian Airforce planes roared overhead.

Thousands lined the ramparts of Quebec to pour out a volume of cheers that, combined with the ringing of church bells and the noise of the ships' whistles in the harbor, was almost deafening.

Shore guns boomed as the royal convoy was welcomed to the river before the city. From the dotted

JITTERY SOCIETY AWAITS ROYALTY

WASHINGTON, May 17 — As the time approaches for the visit of the British King and Queen, society circles are increasingly jittery. The nerve strain is due largely to indecision over problems of royal etiquette.

If a woman hints that she will curtsy to the King and Queen, her best friend may tell her it is un-American. If she says she won't, somebody invariably comments that it wouldn't hurt to show visiting monarchs the courtesies to which they are accustomed.

NO OFFICIAL GUIDE

Since the state department refuses to dictate, there isn't any official guide.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt told wives of new congressmen yesterday that she imagined women from the British embassy would curtsy, but that she didn't believe Americans were supposed to do so.

Lady Lindsay, American-born wife of the British ambassador, has said that if American women curtsy, it will be regarded as a courtesy. But she emphasized that the decision is a personal one.

The question of backing away from the King and Queen probably will not come up, she indicated, since they always precede anyone else from a room. Whenever they are with the President and Mrs. Roosevelt, the honor guests will leave first.

LIKES LINEN BLANKET

Mrs. Roosevelt has been advised, she said, that the Queen likes a linen blanket on her settee, but the First Lady is not sure she knows what a linen blanket is.

The Queen's ladies-in-waiting will bring hot water bottles and will need to have them filled.

The First Lady, who is fairly showered with flowers herself, also was informed that she must be sure to have plenty of vases, because the Queen is given so many bouquets.

MEET the KING and QUEEN

By DAVID SENTNER,
Former London Correspondent for International News Service

She Diets For Figure

The King calls her "Lisbeth."

Or "Betty."

The first proverbial kitten who is privileged to look at Queen Elizabeth of England on her American tour will be struck by her eyes and hands.

They are extremely blue eyes. They look at you eagerly. Warm up if you talk about your children or her own.

They are small and beautifully - shaped hands. Although she keeps them busy cooking and sewing, they are soft.

She is a little woman, only five feet two inches tall. Her height is increased through wearing two and a half inch heels to her shoes, size number three and a half.

She Is "Lisbeth"

He Is "Bertie"

Slender when a girl in her Scottish home at Glamis Castle, she became plump in later years.

She will surprise America with her new dietized figure. The result of doing without starches and sugars and drinking hot lemon juice. All under medical supervision.

SMILES OFTEN

Queen Elizabeth smiles warmly and often. There are laugh wrinkles around those friendly, larkspur blue eyes.

Her hair is dark. It suggests an Irish rather than Scottish lineage.

Previous to her coronation she wore her hair on her forehead in a fringe. Americans call it "bangs."

Recently she has been persuaded to rearrange her hair-do.

Her nose is small and well shaped. She has nice teeth. Decidedly better than the average English woman.

While consenting to be guided to a modern approach in her wardrobe, Queen Elizabeth has refused to have her eyebrows plucked or use more than powder and lipstick.

FREQUENTLY LATE

A fond mother, a helpful wife who has worked hard at the responsibilities of her royal position, Queen Elizabeth has one outstanding foible.

She is frequently tardy.

At a recent Aldershot Tattoo, England's great military pageant, soldiers were kept standing at attention, waiting for her belated appearance.

The Duke of Kent turned to the Duke of Gloucester and whispered:

"Liz is late again."

Queen Elizabeth will celebrate her 39th birthday August 4.

He Tinkers With Radio

The Queen calls him "Bertie."

Handsome, shy and sober-faced is King George VI of England.

Bound for his biggest adventure, there will be scant time for his omniverous reading.

It is a more exacting ordeal even than that day of pomp and ceremony in 1936 when he stepped into the job vacated by his elder brother.

King George VI has a stronger face than the Duke of Windsor. A chin as firm as a boxer's. His blue-gray eyes look at you in startled, serious mood.

Since boyhood an unfortunate impediment in speech developed a self-consciousness, a reserve, a bashfulness.

It is less noticeable now, due to treatment from a specialist and the patient encouragement of his Queen.

His features are as boyish as those of the other brother. But he was never meant to be the royal glamour boy.

LOVER OF OUTDOORS

He is no cosmopolite, no mixer, no bon vivant.

He is a family man, a student, a seeker of quiet friends.

A lover of the silent outdoors, he gains his recreation in sports and hobbies.

He works crossword puzzles, tinkers with home-made radio sets, putters in gardens. He tries to guess the end of detective stories.

The king is six feet, weighs 172 pounds. He parts his well-groomed brown hair on the left side. He uses the same barber as did Edward VIII and his late father, George V.

He competed in the doubles in Wimbledon once, but was put out in his first match.

GOOD TENNIS PLAYER

Bill Tilden, invited to play with him at Buckingham, defeated him, but said:

"He's a good tennis player."

The King is an amateur camera "fiend." Yearns to take pictures of photographers who are taking pictures of him.

He loves locomotives.

His boyish ambition was to be an engineer. Watch for him in the cab of an American engine.

King George VI will celebrate his 44th birthday in June with an American birthday cake.

ROYAL TRANSPORTATION—These are the two cars which the King and Queen of England will use during their stay in Quebec, Canada, where they were to go ashore today. Back of the cars is entrance to the Citadel, which will be their Quebec home.

FLAG REBS LOSE IN HIGH COURT

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—Supreme court has denied a petition for rehearing of its action in affirming a decision under which the children of William A. Johnson of Deerfield, Mass., were expelled from public school because they refused to salute the American flag.

The children, William, Dorothy and Gloria, and their parents are members of a religious sect opposed to saluting the flag.

Cops Muzzle Expectant Daddy

After a while the hospital got pretty tired of it—and so police went to an apartment in the 1300 block of Commonwealth avenue, Allston, late last night, collected an expectant father and housed him up for the night.

He was blotto, and all during the evening he had been calling a Boston hospital and giving several cheers for his wife, who was there in anticipation of becoming a mother for the first time.

Call after call came in from the papa, and apparently after each call he absorbed another dollop from his jug, because each time it got worse—and finally the operators thought he must be talking to them in Sanskrit.

In self-defense, police of the Brighton station were called and were asked could they kindly muzzle this paternaniac, or have some sympathetic officer sit and hold his hand or something.

Officers Charles (Charlie) McCarthy and Richard Stapleton, both veteran daddys, were dispatched post haste. They reported:

"This guy is nursing a bottle that wouldn't do a baby any good."

A short time after becoming a guest at the station, Palpitating Papa fell into a sound slumber. This morning when he awoke, Lieutenant Hugh Brady gave him a kindly talking-to and the probation officer let him loose.

Half an hour later the exuberant one called the station on the telephone.

"It's a boy," he shouted.

Lieutenant Brady sniffed into the receiver suspiciously.

Then he remembered that you can't smell anything over the phone.

HUNT HOLDUP YOUTH

Somerville police today sought an armed youth, about 20, who held up and robbed Mrs. Mary Desmond of Willougby street, Somerville, of $20 while she walked near her home.

FIRE KILLS 3 GIRLS, MOTHER

FORT KENT, Me., May 17—Victim of mother-love, which drove her to plunge again into her flame-swept home in an effort to rescue her three little daughters, Mrs. Eddie DuBois, 44, died in Eagle Lake hsopital today. Her sacrifice was in vain.

There were twelve in the DuBois family—Mr. and Mrs. DuBois and ten children. Now there are seven.

DuBois and four of the children are away from home, working in scattered localities. With her 13-year-old son, Wilson, as the man-of-the-house, Mrs. DuBois was struggling to keep the home together. Another son, 3, was ill, and Wilson went to his attic room last night to feed him. He struck a match, the flaming head flared away, and a moment later the fire had begun.

Wilson carried out the sick boy, and Mrs. DuBois, trapped by the flames, managed to bring Teresa, 7, to safety. Janet, 6; Georgianne, 8, and Solange, 11, were asleep in another upstairs room.

As the fire reached them they cried out piteously, and Mrs. DuBois strove desperately to reach them.

The home at New Canada, was completely destroyed.

Mother Slides Rope to Rescue Baby in Well

CHILDRESS, Tex., May 17 (AP)—With no ladder at hand when her two-year-old son fell into a 14-foot well, Mrs. O. J. Rickman tied a rope to a post and slid down to his rescue.

She pulled the child from two feet of water, grasped his clothes in her teeth and climbed back hand over hand. Donald Glenn suffered only bruises, but Mrs. Rickman was painfully burned by the rope.

PAMELA JOHNSON, 3

Grandmas in Battle For Custody of Child

On the one hand, the apple blossoms of New England. On the other, the orange groves of California. The Atlantic ocean and the Pacific. Boston and Los Angeles.

And here is Mrs. Marion H. Richardson, grandmother of little Pamela Johnson, three, and she loves the little girl very much, indeed. But in California is Mrs. Allie Johnson, also a grandmother of the youngster, who loves her just as much.

NOW SHARE CUSTODY

Strangely, under a Florida court decree, each has as much right to her custody as has the other.

But the little girl's parents, Coast Guard Aviator Reinhold Johnson, 32, stationed at Salem, and his divorced wife, Mrs. Marion Burns Johnson, who lives with Mrs. Richardson, her mother, in Medford, have none.

And that is why attorneys for each of the grandmothers—Harry Rockett, Jr., for Mrs. Richardson, and Matin H. Tobin for Mrs. Johnson—met in Middlesex Court today, prepared to battle out the question of permanent custody of the child.

Attorney Rockett was prepared to argue that it isn't good for little girls to be switched back and forth across the country as ordered by the Florida court, which gave Mrs. Richardson her custody from September to May, and Mrs. Johnson her custody for the rest of each year.

He was prepared to state that the alternate changing of climates would be bad for her health, that the nervous strain of making attachments each six months only to have them broken would be bad for her, and that each grandmother, no matter how deeply she loved her, could not help but try to bring her up differently.

PARENTS DIVORCED

But Attorney Tobin asked the court for time, saying that Mrs. Johnson is preparing her own plea for the little one, which is being forwarded here. So the hearing was postponed until June 8.

Young Mrs. Johnson has consented to her mother having permanent custody. Aviator Johnson is opposed.

The two were divorced in Florida last year, and Judge R. Pope Reeves, in an unprecedented decision, held that neither parent was qualified to bring up the little one. He thereupon awarded her to both grandmothers.

Aviator Johnson is paying $50 a month for her support, and, in addition, is expected to provide transportation to and from California twice each year.

SEEK FEDERAL HELP TO FIGHT WOODS FIRES

With one great forest fire threatening the entire area around Peterboro and Sharon in southern New Hampshire, and a dozen others eating into New England woodlands, the Massachusetts Legislature moved today to ask President Roosevelt for federal aid in the fire emergency.

Under a motion filed in the House by the Rev. Roland D. Sawyer, representative from Ware, the President would be asked to order WPA and CCC workers to clear inflammable material from New England's hurricane-shattered forests.

WOULD CLEAR FORESTS

Although the CCC is already being mobilized to fight existing fires, the resolution would move them into areas not yet touched by flames but ready to kindle with the slightest spark.

Workers would cut out dead branches and tumbled brush, cause of the greatest fire menace in the history of the New England states, leaving solid tree trunks to be salvaged later as saleable lumber.

The resolution appeals directly to the President, but was drafted with provision for its forwarding immediately to New England WPA and CCC headquarters.

Pointing out that the labor which ordinarily would have been employed during the winter to remove the slash from the wind-swept woods was already working on WPA projects, Rep. Ware declared, clearing the woods is directly the responsibility of the WPA.

DAMAGE IS MOUNTING

"There is no project on which the WPA is now working which could be more vital than safeguarding the rural areas of New England," he said, adding that the damage was already running into the thousands, and might well lay waste whole countrysides.

Representative Sawyer suggested the slash be carted from the woods and burned in some central depot. Such a procedure, he explained, would not affect the value of the good lumber remaining to be salvaged.

Several dangerous brush fires in different sections of the countryside brought near panic to rural communities during the night, threatening to blacken hundreds of acres in Maine, New Hampshire and Massachusetts, and imperilling several important summer colonies.

Armies of volunteer firemen, CCC workers, legionnaires, and Boy Scouts were mobilized in Massachusetts and Maine to fight incipient blazes.

Mother, Daughter Executed in Russia

MOSCOW, May 17 (AP)—A mother and daughter convicted of espionage on behalf of a "foreign Fascist power" were executed at Kiev, the army newspaper Red Star disclosed today.

Testimony before a military court showed that the daughter had through marriages obtained information from officers in the important Ukranian border district.

The Red Star said the court not only sentenced both women to be shot but "also severely punished military men who lost their Bolshevist vigilance and were lured by bait of the Fascist intelligence service."

The mother, identified as "Nina," was a former landowner. Testimony was that she trusted a Fascist agent who told her victory for his country would mean restoration of her estate.

She persuaded her beautiful daughter, Ellen, to become a spy with marriage to a border guardsman as her first assignment. She divorced the first husband to marry a lieutenant-colonel.

This widened the range of her activities and "availing herself of the moral instability of some commanders, this traitor penetrated into families of military men and made them involuntary agents of Fascist spies," Red Star said.

The Leningrad Pravda reported other spies were caught in the northwestern border sections, including a "counter-revolutionary terroist group of spies," who tried to organize rebellious bands among anti-Soviet elements. The group was headed by a former White Guard, the paper said.

HAZARD OPERATORS SIGN PACT

HARLAN, Ky., May 17 (AP)—The Hazard county coal operators, employing approximately 7000 men, today signed a union shop contract at Lexington with the United Mine Workers as 400 additional National Guard troops were ordered in readiness to move into this strife-torn coal area.

The agreement covers 40 mines, all of those in the area, operated by 27 companies. These mines produce about 7,000,000 tons annually.

Orders were issued for the miners to "start work immediately" and it was expected some would be in the pits before the end of the day.

Signing of this agreement, the same as 15 other operating groups approved in New York last Saturday, left only the Harlan operators in Kentucky dissenting from the union shop contract.

The Hazard field adjoins Harlan. At Ashland the other dissenting Kentucky group, Big Sandy-Elkorn Coal Operators Association, signed the contract. Peace negotiations here are not to be resumed until Monday.

Big Steel Calls Back 2000 In West Va.

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—"Big Steel" called back 2000 of its miners in Southern West Virginia today in defiance of warnings from United Mine Workers that pickets would keep the pits closed until a union contract had been reached.

Informed sources predicted the development was an opening shot in a showdown fight between the steel companies and the union over the "union shop" agreement which CIO Chieftain John L. Lewis and his UMU recently wrested from a majority of the commercial coal producers.

Kennedy Sees Muddled World

MANCHESTER, Eng., May 17 (INS)—Civilization is beset by "crowding dangers," United States Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy said today as he received an honorary degree from Manchester University.

"The world today is a sorry muddle," Kennedy said.

"We are living in precarious times. Civilization steers a course amid crowding dangers. It will require our best efforts and the best use of our ablest minds and energies if we are to win through safely . . .

"All of us have been existing for some time now under a lowering cloud of foreboding fear."

2 More Nazi Spies Lose Their Heads

BERLIN, May 17 (AP)—Two men convicted of supplying German military secrets to foreign agents—Emil Zeidler, 38, and Martin Richter, 35—were beheaded today, bringing to 20 the number executed as spies since Jan. 1.

CAUGHT!—Despite her efforts to avoid cameramen, Mrs. Helene Fortescue Reynolds is snapped at Los Angeles airport as she returns from Reno, Nev., where she procured uncontested divorce from J. Louis Reynolds, millionaire tobacco man.

Jitter Dance Kills Girl

WATERVILLE, Me., May 17—Wild gyrations of a jitterbug dance apparently caused the death today of Miss Annie Karter, 19, when she suffered a heart shock from over-exertion, according to Medical Examiner Dr. John G. Towne.

She died on a bench in the Benton Grange hall while she sat out a dance after "swinging" through three fast numbers.

New British Pact Offered to Soviet

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and his cabinet ministers today drafted the British government's reply to the Soviet Union, designed to comply with Moscow's demand for reciprocity in return for Russia's entry into the anti-aggression front and sent it to Sir William Seeds, British ambassador in Moscow, with new instructions today.

Circles close to the Soviet embassy declared the new British proposals probably would be favorably received by the Soviet government, although possibly Moscow may suggest certain alterations.

Britain was described in responsible quarters as willing now to make important concessions to bring Russia into the front, and one reliable informant said a new offer to Russia for a Russian-British military alliance had been considered.

DENMARK ACCEPTS

"Active consultations are in progress" both in Moscow and London, a foreign office spokesman said. Soviet Ambassador Ivan Maisky called at the foreign office.

Meanwhile, the French government sent a note to London, pressing the British government to join France and Russia in a tri-partite mutual assistance pact to resist possible aggression against any of the states already guaranteed by the three nations.

Denmark today cautiously accepted Germany's offer of negotiations for a non-aggression pact while Sweden, Norway and Finland politely declined Hitler's proposals of parallel accords.

Danish sources said, however, that their country did not pledge herself to accept such a pact under any and all circumstances. It still has to be negotiated.

The ministers of the four powers were received separately by Baron Ernst Von Weizsaecker, state secretary in the foreign office, when they delivered their three "noes" and one "yes."

REBUKE TO ROOSEVELT

Germany, however, hailed as a "rebuke to President Roosevelt" the action of the four Scandinavian nations.

Britain's plan for settlement of Jewish-Arab strife over conflicting claims to Palestine as a homeland was set for announcement today and Jewish resentment to the proposal was manifest in the Holy Land.

Thoughout Palestine Jewish national institutions opened offices for registration of Jews for possible service in the Jewish cause.

While Britain struggled with the Russian and Palestine questions, the axis powers—Germany and Italy—introduced "colonial solidarity" as a new phase of their policy. Germans were promised full co-operation of Italy in attempts to regain their war-lost colonies.

A volunteer army of 70,000 Germans began work today on a census which will afford the Nazi regime information on which to base further regimentation of the life of the nation.

American Fleet Ends New York Stay

NEW YORK, May 16 (INS)—Fifteen fighting ships of the Atlantic squadron steamed out of New York harbor today to return to their home base off Norfolk, Va., officially ending their visit to the New York World's Fair, during which thousands of curious landlubbers went aboard to inspect them from boy to stern.

Burns to Death In Oxygen Tent

PITTSBURGH, May 17 (AP)—An attempt to light a cigarette while receiving treatment in an oxygen tent cost Eugene A. Boehm his life, Coroner J. P. Henney reported.

The 40-year-old unemployed steel worker of Ambridge burned to death in bed in Presbyterian Hospital yesterday.

A fellow patient who made a futile effort to drag Boehm from the tent said the oxygen burst into flames as soon as Boehm struck the match.

Attendants said they repeatedly warned Boehm about smoking in the presence of oxygen.

U. S. LANDS SAILORS AT AMOY

SHANGHAI, May 17 (AP)—The United States cruiser Marblehead landed a patrol at Kulangsu International Settlement off Amoy today to protect American interests against any infringements arising from the Japanese naval occupation of the area.

Forty-three sailors were in the Marblehead landing party. The cruiser arrived at Kulangsu today, joining the United States destroyer Bulmer.

Four or five British warships were believed to be in Amoy harbor as a consequence of the Japanese invasion of the International Settlement.

Landing of the American sailors, which was reported to Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, commander-in-chief of the United States Asiatic fleet, placed the United States in the position of taking a direct hand in the Kulangsu crisis.

The United States and Britain are the chief powers concerned in Kulangsu, the first International Settlement to be invaded by Japanese thus far in the Japanese-Chinese war.

Japanese termed the landing of their marines at Kulangsu Friday a measure of self-defense, saying a Japanese naval commander was endangered in an incident in which a Chinese was fatally wounded.

The landing, however, was followed by sweeping demands for Japanese control of the Kulangsu International Settlement government.

SHANGHAI, May 17 (INS)—Admiral Sir Percy Noble, British Far Eastern naval chief, delivered an ultimatum to Japanese authorities today, demanding evacuation of Kulangsu Island International Settlement at the Port of Amoy.

BACKUS WEEPS ON STAND

"I beg of you, gentlemen, don't give away the police powers of Massachusetts!"

So, in the midst of a fervent plea for the retention by the state of its sovereign rights, John H. Backus, broke down and wept today while on the stand at a hearing on ouster proceedings brought against him by Governor Saltonstall.

"It doesn't make any difference what happens to me", he went on, his voice choked with emotion, "but, I beg of you, don't destroy the securities division of the Public Utilities Commission.

"That is the barrier on the border of the state which keeps out the thieves. The government can't do it."

TESTIMONY DRAMATIC

The testimony of the head of the securities division, given before the full membership of the PUC, his superiors in the state's service, was dramatic in the extreme.

Governor Saltonstall, his boss, and a Republican, had ordered the division abolished. He had fought for the division before the state legislative committee on administration. He had said certain things—and they had been interpreted as "impugning" the governor's motives. So the governor moved to oust him.

He took the stand at the request of Defense Counsel Joseph Scolponetti, following testimony favorable to the division, given by Lothrop Withington, attorney for the Boston Stock Exchange.

REVIEWS WORK

Backus stated that his office had qualified $7,500,000,000 of stock for sale in Massachusetts. He stated that sale of $240,000,000 of fraudulent stock had been halted. He denied that he had intended to impugn the governor's motive when before the administrative committee he had stated "I know who dictated this order."

Withington expressed admiration for the governor, but stated that he believed he was misinformed when told that the SEC would take the state securities division.

Today's hearing started with fireworks when the commission refused to call a group of New York and Boston brokers wanted as witnesses by Backus' counsel.

FENWAY HOLDUP NETS $600

Leonard Finn, collector for the Bond Oil Co., operators of parking lots, was held up today in the Fenway, at gunpoint, by three bandits and robbed of collections totaling between 600 and $700.

Finn, whose home is in Blue Hill avenue, Roxbury, had just made a collection at a parking lot near Fenway Park and was in Newbury street, near Brookline avenue, when the bandits slip into his car.

They forced him to move over, drove him a short distance away, took the money, then stepped into another machine, which had a fourth man at the wheel, and departed.

The bandit car carried plates reported stolen in Boston last January.

Finn is a nephew of E. Philip Finn and with him operates the parking lots under the name of Bond Oil Company at 544 Commonwealth avenue, off Kenmore square, Back Bay.

Famous Physician says:
"Watch Your Kidneys"
Try CHENEY'S JUNIPER and ASPARAGUS PILLS

THE kidneys are one of the most important eliminative organs of the body. Their useful function in eliminating waste matter and acids and poisons from the blood stream cannot be over-emphasized. Many ailments are aggravated by poorly functioning kidneys. Some of the symptoms often due to kidney disfunction are: Pain in the back, getting up nights, bladder weakness (too frequent urination), scalding urine, scanty urine, cloudy urine, leg pains and swelling of the ankles, difficulty in urination or strong odor to urine.

Juniper and Asparagus Pills help stimulate the secreting cells or nerves of the kidneys and flush, cleanse and purify the kidneys and bladder, allowing them to perform their required duties of eliminating irritating acids and poisonous waste matter. Safe and reliable and often proved an effective remedy. Mother Nature's own diuretic and stimulators. Gentle in action, free from after effects.

Juniper Berries
Nature's remedy for Kidney and Bladder ailments. First used by the Indians, later by our forefathers for pains in the back, lumbago, scalding or too frequent urination; in fact, many kidney disorders.

Asparagus Root
Used with great benefit in connection with Juniper Berries. Everyone knows that Asparagus is very beneficial for the kidneys. It is necessary, however, to use it in a very concentrated form to get the best results

300 Maynard Students Strike

MAYNARD, May 17 (AP)—shouting "we want Reynolds," 300 students went on strike at Maynard high school today in protest against a school committee vote terminating the services of William Reynolds, English instructor, and Donald A. Lent, mathematics teacher, effective in September.

The remaining 385 students who did not strike, including many seniors and all members of the school's unbeaten baseball team and its track squad, returned to classes after the strikers walked out.

School officials indicated they expected parental disapproval would cause the strike to collapse before tomorrow.

Civil Service Bill Returned

Stating that he believes "it will be ery difficult to obtain an experienced director at the present salary," Goernor Saltonstall today returned the civil service reorganization bill to the legislature and suggested it be amended to increase the salary of that official from $5000 annually to $6500.

He also suggested the bill be amended so that the five members of the new commission be paid $15 per day instead of $20, as prvided in the bill, the total per year to be not more than $1200 instead of $1500.

Memory Lapses Stir Revere Trial Judge

said, but when the 31 fellow-troopers crashed in later there were 150 clients and employes there.

Lindstrom said that $5556 in cash was seized in the cashier's cage. Lindstrom pointing out where the money was kept.

Sergeant George F. Alexander, attached to Northampton barracks, testified that he led the raid. On February 20, he said, he had gone to the office of Judge Paul J. MacDonald in Chelsea and obtained a search warrant for the North Shore Garage.

TELLS OF RAID

That afternoon, at Framingham barracks, 31 troopers were loaded into a big horse van and the vehicle started for Revere. At Brookline, however, they were headed off and turned back, because word had come that the club was closed.

Again on Monday, the holiday, the troopers climbed into their horse van, the witness said, and this time the raid went through.

While the troopers were removing equipment from the club, according to the sergeant, three revolvers were found, two on the garage floor and one in the cashier's drawer.

Sergeant Alexander identified William O'Brien, Procus, McGarry, Cortese and Hedstrom as having been present.

The witness said that after seizing the money, he made out a memorandum for the amount, which McGarry, Cortese "and a Mr. De Maio" signed.

CALLED "HOSTILE"

De Maio is named in the indictments but is in default.

The seized money was turned over, the sergeant testified, to Lieutenant McLaughlin at Framingham barracks.

Earlier at today's session of the trial, Judge Allan G. Buttrick had interrupted a train of "I don't remember" replies by a state witness and had branded him as "hostile," at the same time giving permission to Assistant Attorney-General John S. Derham to cross-examine his own witness.

The witness was Arthur C. Gagnon, Revere painter, who already had testified that he did the painting and decorating at the North Shore garage, when it allegedly was converted into a gambling establishment.

Gagnon made the third out of five witnesses called by Derham whom Judge Buttrick allowed the prosecutor to cross-examine because of what the judge criticized as their lapse of memory.

Four out of the five witnesses left the stand without undergoing questioning by the battery of defense lawyers for former Mayor O'Brien, Police Chief Tighe and 11 others.

SEEKS DEVER'S AID

Following Gagnon's testimony today, Derham said he would confer with Attorney-General Paul A. Dever.

On one occasion during Gagnon's testimony, Judge Buttrick ordered the painter to make a definite answer to a query as to who paid for the painting done at the North Shore Garage.

Gagnon then replied that William L. O'Brien, Jr., had paid for the work.

The painter testified that he was present in the club on February 22, 1938, when state troopers made a raid, and that he was one of those arrested for being present.

Arthur C. Gagnon

"On the day of the raid, what was going on there?" Derham asked.

"Some sort of a game," Gagnon replied.

Q—What sort of a game was it? A—I don't remember.

Q—Well, was it a football game or a baseball game; was it a postoffice game? A—I guess it was a game with money.

Q—How many were there? A—About 150.

Q—Did you see O'Brien there on that date? A—I saw William O'Brien in the garage that day.

Q—What was he doing? A—He was just walking around.

Q—Who was the man who directed you as to the colors to be used in painting the garage? A—I don't remember who it was.

Timothy O'Connell, one of the defendants and an alleged operator of the gambling club, was asked to stand up in court.

Q by Derham to Gagnon)—Is that the man who told you what colors to paint the walls? A—No.

Q—Are you sure? A—Positive.

Q—Were you in the club other days previous to the day of the raid? A—I don't remember.

Flynn Renamed State Pension Head

Governor Saltonstall reappointed Richard R. Flynn of Winthrop today as commissioner of state aid and pensions. The nomination was sent to the executive council for confirmation.

Flynn, who has been commissioner for 24 years, was named for another three-year term at a salary of $5500 annually. He is dean of the state division heads.

THREE NEW RAIL PLANS STUDIED

predicting loss of land values and public inconvenience.

Governor Saltonstall issued a statement assuring the South Shore Shore and Cape Cod communities that the Old Colony Road will not be abandoned on June 13, as was generally believed.

Reorganizaton proceedings under a petition in bankruptcy filed by the New Haven Railroad will begin on June 13 and Federal Judge Carroll C. Hincks at New Haven, Ct., who is conducting reorganization proceedings, has urged the trustees of the road to give immediate consideration to reorganization or abandonment of the Old Colony division as a necessary economy measure.

Eighty-eight other stations of the New Haven road have been closed in Massachusetts on order of Judge Hincks.

A small portion of the areas to be affected is now served by Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway buses.

Mayor Thomas S. Burgin, of Quincy, keynoted the sentiment of civic leaders of the affected communities with the assertion that transportation "means too much to our community to be surrendered without a struggle."

The proposal to abandon stations in the Quincy area would affect thousands of commuters and Walter Schmitz, Chamber of Commerce head, has called a mass meeting for Monday night at the Quincy high school to draw up battle lines.

The proposal was labeled "absurd" by Amedeo V. Sgarzi, former Chamber of Commerce head. Louis Bach, Board of Trade president, promised strong opposition from civic and business organizations.

Hincks' criticism of the State Public Utilities Commission for "allowing the matter to lapse all if desultory hearings" brought a sharp blast from Atty. Gen. Paul A. Dever.

Dever declared the commission was powerless to render any decision until the final ruling by the United States Supreme Court on the question of jurisdiction.

Freight service will be continued on all lines where it is now effective railroad officials said.

Cleveland Arrest In Death Ring Case

CLEVELAND, May 17 (AP)—Dominic Rodio, 51, of Philadelphia, sought by federal agents in their investigation of an interstate poison murder ring's operations, was arrested here today in the home of a sister.

Rodio is one of two persons for whom warrants were issued by federal agents last night.

Detectives Ralph Kennedy and Vincent Morrow arrested him at the home of Mrs. John Di Francisco, where he was asleep. Detectives said they had received a pick-up order for his apprehension from Superintendent of Police Edward Hubbs of Philadelphia.

Rodio was named in warrants as an accessory in a drowning.

Detective Sergeant James Hogan said Philadelphia authorities were notified of Rodio's apprehension, and added that police here might investigate to determine whether operations of the poison ring extended into Ohio.

Arresting officers reported Rodio told them he came to Cleveland last Sunday "to forget" about the death of his 17-year-old son, killed in a traffic accident May 5.

The warrant issued for Rodio charged him with being an accessory to murder in the drowning of Joseph Arena off the New Jersey coast near Sea Isle City in 1932.

Hogan said Rodio admitted his identity.

LAST RITES HELD FOR BONUGLI

Funeral services were held today for Albert Bonugli, 45, of Wilmington, engraving department superintendent of the Hearst newspapers in Boston. He was accorded full military honors as an overseas veteran of the World War.

A requiem high mass was celebrated at the Oblate Novitiate Chapel in Tewksbury. Burial was in St. Michael's Cemetery, Forest Hills.

During the service at the grave a plane from the aviation corps of the 26th Division, National Guard, dipped in salute. A squad from the 26th Division fired a volley over the open grave, before the flag-draped casket was lowered.

Detachments from Wilmington and Tewksbury posts, American Legion, and from Fort Banks acted as a guard of honor.

Pallbearers were Walter Howey, editor of the Hearst newspapers in Boston; James P. Murphy, managing editor of the Daily Record; James F. McGaffigan, chief auditor Hearst newspapers; John H. Noonan, city editor, Boston American; Eugene Muller, mechanical superintendent; Henry Young, engraving department foreman; Louis Berube and John Belton.

Shoe Cuts Jump UCC Claims

Payroll cuts in the Massachusetts shoe industry caused a sharp increase in the number of claims filed with the state division of unemployment compensation during the past week, it was officially announced today.

Total of claims presented was 12,531, as compared with 10,754 the preceding week.

Only twice during the past 12 months has the 12,531 figure been exceeded. The Haverhill office, with 714 claims, hit a high surpassed only once since January, 1938.

Brockton reported 1122 claims, a near record. Lynn, Newburyport, Salem and Marlboroc laims soared. So, to a leser extent, did those in Fall River, New Bedford and Taunton.

Who, ME? . . Guilty of "B.O."?

YOU may think this message is not for you. But the dangerous thing about "B.O." is that offenders rarely know when they are guilty, but other people notice it immediately. That's why every time two people meet, may be a critical moment for both of them. A bad impression is a lasting impression. To be guilty of "B.O." in business or social life, is to do yourself a great injustice—and perhaps great harm.

So why take chances? Why not play safe? Use Lifebuoy in your daily bath! It contains an exclusive ingredient not found in any other popular toilet soap. Lifebuoy in your daily bath stops "B.O."—assures personal freshness. Try Lifebuoy! You'll enjoy its rich, lively, penetrating lather.

Visit of King, Queen to Cost U. S. $15,000

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—The visit of the British king and Queen will cost the United States government about $15,000 by semi-official estimate.

The total was arrived at by a state department official, who figured in such items as rental of a special train, a luncheon and state dinner at the White House, and a yacht trip to Mount Vernon.

Rep Sweeney (D) of Ohio, on the other hand, told the House the entertainment would cost $300,000. He included, among other things, the loss of time by government employes.

N. E. REPERTORY THEATER PRESENTS MOLNAR'S 'LILIOM'

Virginia Thomas Stars in Role

By PEGGY DOYLE

The New England Repertory Theater [illegible] first birthday with a performance of Molnar's Liliom at Hunting ton Chambers Hall, 20 Huntington avenue. It will be repeated tonight, Thursday and Friday nights.

Liliom," produced on Broadway with Joseph Schildkraut in [illegible] was [illegible] Theresa Helburn [illegible] Theater Guild [illegible]

It is the strange love story of two humble people. A barker and a factory girl, terminated when the hero commits suicide to escape [illegible] arrest and can't live [illegible] life when he comes [illegible] earth briefly after death.

As Molnar conceived him, the barker is bullying, carefree, cruel and lazy only because he is frustrated by his own inadequacy to express himself. He loves Julie but is incapable of telling her so.

William Fraser's Liliom never communicates this emotional capacity. His portrayal is dapper and ugly unimaginative. There is a style and grace to Miss Thomas' performance that is completely opposed to the [illegible] quality that lifted the [illegible] characterization into the [illegible] performances of that season.

'Gracie Allen Murder Case' Heads New Program at Met

S. S. Van Dine's new mystery comedy "The Gracie Allen Murder Case," coupled with "King of the Turf," starring Wallace Beery and featuring Adolphe Menjou, are the two new features opening tomorrow at the Metropolitan Theater.

"The Gracie Allen Murder Case" has a mystery plot rotating about the celebrated Philo Vance, noted scientific detective, who is called in to solve a baffling night club crime. The sleuth is knee deep in [illegible] when he runs into radio famous comedy star, Gracie Allen, who appoints herself his assistant.

The picture, adapted from one of S. S. Van Dine's best sellers has a supporting cast headed by Warren William, as Philo Vance, Ellen Drew, Kent Taylor, Judith Barrett and Donald McBride. [illegible] George M. Arthur was in charge of production, and Alfred Green directed for Paramount.

Lincoln Film World Premiere At Springfield

Twentieth Century-Fox has invited 119 newspaper critics, syndicate writers and photographers and trade press representatives to attend the world premiere of "Young Mr. Lincoln" in Springfield, Ill., on the night of Memorial Day.

A special train to Springfield will carry the Eastern visitors from New York to Lincoln's home town. In Springfield headquarters will be established in the Abraham Lincoln Hotel and the Leland Hotel and special wire facilities will be provided for the working press.

The visitors will arrive in Springfield on the morning of May 30. They will be guests at a luncheon later to civic organizations of the city and will be taken on a tour of the historic spots of the city, including the famous Lincoln Memorial.

The premiere of the picture will be held at 8 o'clock and the opening part of the program, which will include a group of songs by Marian Anderson, famous negro contralto, with Lowell Thomas introducing other celebrities, will go on the air over a coast-to-coast network of the Mutual Broadcasting System.

Following the screening of "Young Mr. Lincoln" the guests will be taken to one of the hotels for a midnight supper and entertainment.

Hollywood Paragraphs

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

No better choice for Knute Rockne could be made than Spencer Tracy who not only admired the great Notre Dame football coach but knew him well as a personal friend.

Sometime ago we heard that Pat O'Brien was out of the part because of other assignments, so getting Tracy is really a coup on Jack Warner's part. Of course, he is being loaned by M-G-M where they undoubtedly consider turn about is fair play since Edward G. Robinson is on their lot from Warners.

Spence just got back in town but not in time for the premiere of "Goodbye Mr. Chips" as he had hoped. Listen to him for five minutes and he sounds like a press agent for Robert Donat and I say coming from Tracy that is praise from Caesar.

Joel McCrea and Samuel Goldwyn have parted company after four years together. Joel asked for his freedom, although his contract had a year and some months to run, because he felt with Gary Cooper in the Goldwyn family his chances were limited especially since Sam only makes four movies per year.

Joel said that he and Sam parted amicably and he agreed to make "Career Man" at Warners first as planned for him. He has made very few Goldwyn pictures of late having been almost constantly loaned to other studios.

But Joel was overjoyed in Union Pacific," and he feels that he would like to choose screen plays that give him the same opportunity.

R. F. C. Loans for New Machinery

The plan of the Boston office of the RFC to make loans for the purchase of new machinery continues to attract wide attention. Bankers as well as industrialists are reported to be showing considerable interest . . .

As we recall the RFC was the one lending agency concerned when the subject was first broached. Now active participation by private banks is reported.

Of the applications received a total about half involve participation by banks . . . Today the first bunch of three loan requests will be presented for approval of local RFC directors . . . And at least one more is due to come up next week . . . If passed along to Washington and approved there promptly the first actual loans should be made in a week or two . . .

THIS LATEST . . . Adaptation of RFC lending powers is fraught with real promise . . . Simply because the money advanced goes to positive stimulation of industry . . . As contrasted with the negative action resulting from loans for refunding or to stave off bankruptcy because risks involved are too great for private lenders . . . Also the participation of banks is encouraging . . . With a government agency as a partner in the deal a more courageous loaning policy is possible . . . And in all likelihood a spirit of liberal treatment for other types of advances fostered . . . And the machinery loan applications are not plesyune . . . Running from $10,000 to $50,000 . . . With one big one of a half million dollars now under investigation . . .

PROFIT VS. LOSS . . . Is the story of Harvard Brewing's earnings for the six month period ended March 31 this year and last . . . In 1939 the company reports a net profit of $24,792 contrasted with a net loss of $114,296 in 1938 . . . Both figures after tax allowances . . . And the big Lowell brewing concern faces the pleasant prospect of entering its peak season well prepared for a larger volume of business according to president Walter Guyette . . . He also calls stockholders attention to the current asset-liability ratio of 3½ to 1 in his letter reporting on the condition and operations of their company . . .

HEADLINES . . . For the New Haven railroad are the order of the day . . . And all are not concerned with curtailed service proposals . . . Road holders are still forming committees to protect their interests . . . The latest revealed by an application to the ICC . . . By a committee of five headed by Henry A. Wood, Jr., of Boston . . . Asking for authority to represent holders of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Harlem River-Portchester first mortgage 4 per cent bonds . . . Other members are Guy M. Dalbeare of Norwich . . . Foster W. Doty and Henry N. Flynt, both of New York City . . . And Malcolm C. Ware of Boston . . .

STATE STREETERS . . . Are definitely interested and decidedly heartened by current earnings estimates on United Fruit's second quarter . . . The big Boston company is reported as better than in the same 1938 period . . . And results should be as good, if not better, than returns for the first quarter . . . When $1.21 a share was earned . . . At present the company is in the best banana consumption season . . . And if current trends are maintained final results will make excellent reading . . .

FATHER, SONS . . . Night will be observed this evening by the Boston Securities Traders Association . . . At the Parker House . . . A buffet supper at 6:15 will precede a showing of the motion picture The First Century of Baseball . . . Quest stars from the Red Sox and White Sox will be present . . . The committee on arrangements includes Hubert N. Bernard, Jr., Howard S. Perry, Francis J. Hughes, Wilfred N. Day, Hugh F. Dolton, Jr., Ralph Carr and C. Graham Hurlburt . . .

New Ideas Key to Economic Recovery

As C. F. Kettering, research genius of the General Motors Corporation, has pointed out, resumption of economic progress in this country hinges on new projects, new ideas, and new research.

Science and invention, the fruits of the creative mind—are the levers which lift the living standards of a whole population . . .

It is necessary to restate this fundamental truth in order to detect the underlying fallacy of the Nazi concept, namely, that if you drive out of a country a creative non Nordic scientist, engineer, or business manager, you create a job for a Brown Shirt.

On the contrary, the creative man not only is worthy of his hire, but through his activities he develops jobs and goods and services for many others.

This is obviously the case. If the reverse were true then the way to economic greatness would be in reckless leadership . . .

When Henry Ford and other pioneers in the automobile industry developed a new means of individual transportation, they created the basis for permanent employment for millions in making and servicing cars. The same is true of radio, electrical appliances, and other improvements which add to the dignity and comfort of human living.

When economic groups are in balanced income relationships so that they can give employment to one another by exchanging the goods and services they produce, then there is no known limit to potential advances in physical well-being . . .

The old fear that good living is too extravagant is archaic and unsound. As technology improves, a civilized people has the choice between more leisure or more goods. In the United States, over the long pull, the people have tended to receive both. Except in depressions, the trend has been in the direction of more and better goods in exchange for an hour of work, with an extra dividend in the form of increased leisure.

Business-Relief Tax Drive Is Intensified

By WILLIAM I. NEAL

WASHINGTON, May 17 (INS)—The drive for business-relief tax revision was intensified today as a House Democratic group demanded that Congress go even beyond the "four-point" Harrison program which President Roosevelt deemed adequate.

Sweeping changes not only in corporation taxes but also in the individual surtax brackets in an effort to encourage business and put idle dollars into action were urged by the House group, which includes members of the powerful ways and means committee.

Meantime the President was reported planning an appeal to the New Dealers in Congress to halt the recession movement by shelving a sectional quarrel.

House tax revisionists urged repeal of the undistributed profits tax substitution of a flat corporation tax, a three-year carry-over of losses and permitting an immediate deduction of capital stock taxes. The provision is retained.

These proposals were embodied in the "minimum program" of Senator Harrison (D) of Mississippi.

The group also proposed to repeal both the excess profits and capital stock taxes and to impose a flat corporation tax of 20 per cent, if necessary to make up lost revenue.

Further changes in high individual surtax rates, extension of the right to file consolidated returns and various changes in the corporation tax law are designed to free capital for new risks and give impetus to new enterprise.

"The Harrison proposals are all right as far as they go, but they do not go far enough," said Mr. Curtis. "I think it is necessary to reduce surtaxes in order to encourage investment and put idle capital and idle men to work."

THE PROPOSAL of the New Haven Railroad to abandon forty-seven more stations [illegible] Line causes grave concern among commuters, [illegible] owners and business men generally.

They [illegible] say: "Forget deficits. Maintain service, even at a $2,000,000 a year loss."

Such a solution would seriously injure the people themselves [illegible] who have deposits in Massachusetts savings Banks which in past years bought heavily of New Haven bonds.

Already many banks have "written off" a large part of this investment. [illegible] to lose additional millions.

In fact these conditions are so apprehensive about the situation that [illegible] appointed Mr. Myron F. Converse of the Worcester [illegible] Bank to head a committee to protect investments in New Haven.

HOW LONG CAN YOU LIVE? Dr. Serge Voronoff, world famous because of his monkey gland rejuvenation experiments, predicts that "the average life of human beings will be extended to nearly 150 years when surgery to produce longevity becomes a more general practice."

Dr. Voronoff, embarked on a quest not unlike that of the illustrious Ponce de Leon, who discovered Florida, undoubtedly knows that men have been able to attain the century and a half mark without physical assistance.

DR. VORONOFF

Biblical students tell us Abraham lived to 175. Isaac, a similarly peaceful and tranquil man, to 185; Jacob, crafty and cunning, to 147; Ismael, a warrior, to 137, and Moses, despite his constant activity to 120.

Brahman priests are said to attain [illegible] ages, and one of the secrets of the [illegible] of the Buddhist Faith is believed to be the knowledge of the best [illegible] of living past one hundred.

In comparatively modern times we find men of science and literature—Kant, Buffon, Newton, Goethe and Fontenelle—who were old more than eighty. Michelangelo and Titian lived to eighty-nine and ninety-nine respectively.

Possibly the most celebrated case of longevity on record is that of Harry Jenkins. This remarkable man was born in Yorkshire, England, in 1501 and died in 1670, aged 169. He remembered the battle of Flodden Field in 1513 at which time he was twelve years old.

Human Side of News -:- by EDWIN C. HILL

A FEW YEARS AGO on a weekend up the river we were talking after dinner, about iron-clad battleships and how they started. Suddenly as we knew the battle between the Monitor and Merrimac at Hampton Roads was the first engagement between ships so armored.

Later that evening, the Korean houseboy asked me with great deference and many apologies, if he might have a word with me. He explained that his country had made the first "great ship of iron to go in fight," and that it had overwhelmed all the ships the Japanese could bring against it.

What with the boy's quaint English and with my mind on other matters I didn't follow the story closely, but it seemed that all this happened "so long ago almost forgot."

I WAS AMUSED and wondered where the lad got his idea. But it was Gospel truth. Several years later I ran it down in the history books.

Early in the 16th century, the Koreans made a huge, eight-decked ironclad battleship which panned back the ears of the Japanese as nothing ever did before or since.

A KOREAN SHRINE
Fire of Hope Still Burns

The vessel was built like a tortoise, with the creature's rearing head fanged, pop-eyed and breathing—a truly ferocious monster, as the old prints show it. They put a chimney in it, through the turtle's neck, stoked up a fire in the hold, and as it bore down on the Japanese fleet of Admiral Hideyoshi in Chinhai Bay, there was a horrendous belch of flame and smoke from the turtle's mouth.

It was a quick, clean-cut victory for the Koreans, and the Japanese didn't bother them for a long time after that.

THE JAPANESE hare has far outrun the Korean tortoise, but the old turtle is still padding along after just 4272 years of recorded history, and just now it is belching smoke and beginning to look tough again—even if it is fethered by the Japanese.

Of the 23,000,000 Koreans, it has been estimated that about 3,000,000 are scattered throughout the world, organizing, agitating and proselyting for the liberation of their country, snatched by Japan in 1910. They have an insatiable yen for education, as the first article of their revolutionary faith is that only by knowledge can they free their homeland.

The Ivy League colleges, as well as a score or more of colleges throughout the country, have been running through an increasing number of Koreans in the last few years—Columbia well up in the lead.

Girl About Town -:- by MARY X. SULLIVAN

IF TELEVISION ever replaces the cinema, movie actresses can stop dieting. For according to Linda Loring, the television camera [illegible] kind to curves.

Linda, a petite blonde who lives in Cambridge, is one of the girls tested for "type" by the Massachusetts Television Institute. The experts have declared her the ideal type—we might coin a word and say she is telegenic. (Philologists, please don't write in and protest.)

Her hair, which is [illegible] but not bleached, seems to be the ideal color. Brunettes do not fare so well, and platinum tresses look gray. Her eyes are deep blue.

She has no worries on the score of weight, for Linda is tiny but well-rounded. As they say in Michigan, she is "cute as a bug's ear." She says, however that hollow cheeks will not do and that her face looks slimmer than it is on the receiving screen.

"Of course I've never seen myself," she said. "But I watched a test of a plump girl, and she looked pounds lighter. I don't know why."

The make-up used is fantastic. Some of the experts favor green for the base, although others like a light beige. Lipstick is chocolate brown. The eyelids near the brows are done in deep brown, with light cream for highlighting over the eyelid.

ROSALIND RUSSELL of the films has compiled a list of the ten most overworked phrases in the feminine vocabulary. She estimates that six out of every ten women say, on the average of once in five minutes, one of the following:

"Too, too divine"; "utterly mad", "terribly gay", "completely charming", "literally starved" and "terrifically amug".

Rosalind, have you been bobnobbing with debutantes again?

Political Parade -:- by GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

WASHINGTON, May 17—If you don't know that the finances of this country are in a sorry fix, you are living in a gaudier fools paradise than the one the Congressional grasshoppers are living in, and Boy! they have taken a perpetual lease on the primrose path. Maybe!

It begins to look now as though the debt limit of 45 billions as fixed by law, and beyond which not even the New Deal spendthrifts can go without being lawbreakers, might be reached before the adjournment of the present session.

At any rate the reckless excesses of the Senatorial breed of spendthrifts have boosted this year's appropriations so far above the 10-billion dollar mark, that the debt limit is in sight.

IN JANUARY [illegible] estimated [illegible] for 1940, the national [illegible] would reach a total of $44,4[illegible].

This gave a margin under the debt limit of $543,000,000. The excess appropriations added to various bills [illegible] and House [illegible] have [illegible] and become law will reduce this margin under the statutory debt limit of 45 billions to $279,154,790.

SECRETARY MORGENTHAU
Hyphen Pile the Deficits

In a critical time like this it is inconceivable that even a Congress so derelict in its duties as the recent congresses have been, with a world war just over the horizon would adjourn and leave the public treasury in any such state as that.

But heaven alone knows what other raids will be made by this present reckless Congress on the "hole in the old oaken bucket" over which Secretary of the Deficit Morgenthau presides.

TO WHAT an extent do the American people, outside of bureaucracy-ridden Washington, realize the gravity of their situation?

They should support the movement launched by a handful of stern economic realists at the Senate, for a 10 per cent. horizontal CUT IN ALL APPROPRIATIONS ALREADY MADE and they should demand THAT THAT cut be made now BEFORE THESE SPENDTHRIFTS GO HOME to solicit from their constituents the political rewards of their shameful waste.

After all, people, you are these self-same constituents.

You are asked to reward politically the politicians who have sought your favor with YOUR OWN MONEY.

If you don't act YOU ARE THE ONES WHO ARE GOING BROKE.

Only a boob furnishes the cheese for his own trap!

"Five hours after he landed, he complained: 'I don't like the social life in America'". . . "The President and Harry Hopkins had their first big disagreement a few days ago, while they were on the Potomac," an editor reports at Reuben's, "about the speech Roosevelt will deliver before the retailers next week. Roosevelt wants to attack the National Association of Manufacturers—while Hopkins tried to convince him to go easy."

By GEORGE HOLLAND

AMERICA'S HIGHEST PAID MAN in the last income tax reports, Louis B. Mayer of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, may have convinced Mrs. Nancy Adams, lovely wife of Weston W. Adams, the Boston sportsman and boss-owner, that Hollywood is the place for the Adamses in the future. It was the famous motion-picture magnate who avowed that Nancy had captivated him and the rest of Hollywood when Weston and his bride were in the movie capital on their last visit . . . It was your reporter who suggested that the fair Nancy might prove also to be photogenic . . . As Mr. Mayer agreed, and in view of the fact that he earned the fantastic sum of a million seven hundred-odd thousand dollars in 1937 for bossing the M. G. M. lot, it is a fair assumption that Mrs. Adams could have a movie test if she desired.

THE CHANCES ARE, HOWEVER, that the Adamses will remain in Boston . . . Nancy nibbed Hollywood's biggest big-shot a trifle, and called to his attention that in Boston, the Adams family has the pleasure of watching the performances of the world's championship hockey team—theirs. She might have remarked that her husband's stable of horses was performing satisfactorily too with the Adams colors appearing in front twice yesterday, and their barn-warming the new Suffolk meeting with three winners in two days. Mr. Mayer admitted that Los Angeles couldn't compete with Boston in the league hockey . . . And he could have lost in the discussion of horses a "heel" long face. For the Hollywood magnate owns the proudest of the largest racing stable in America. He owns 60 horses. Sixteen of them, by the way, will be shipped to Suffolk after the Churchill Downs meeting.

WHEN LOUIS B. MAYER comes to Boston, where some of his relatives and most of his closest friends still reside, it's an event. His arrival caught the newspapers, and his head office, quite unprepared . . . Although he was traveling with the studio's famous press-agent, Howard Strickling, not an advance line of his expected arrival had been released . . . "I wanted to see Tom Spry and others of my old friends, and sit around and have a chat," he said . . . Thirty or so years ago, 'Uncle Tom" Spry and Mayer were pioneers in the motion picture business in Haverhill . . . The friendship has continued through the years, and was of the closest variety even when Uncle Tom was the Warner Brothers' franchise owner in New England . . . Mayer's phone call to Spry was the first he made upon arrival . . . Together and with former Comptroller of the Treasury Garry Roosevelt, J. F. T. O'Brien & they visited a Boston high churchman and dropped in at a downtown track. The movie mogul then made for Suffolk Downs. Not so many years ago, Mayer was an important voice in the Republican party and a close friend of both President Coolidge and President Hoover. While in Washington, he came to know John T. Lambert who was then representing this newspaper in the capital . . . John as is generally known, was the newspaperman nearest to the heart of the late Governor. It was Lambert now an important executive at Suffolk who added something to the lore of horse-racing yesterday. Remember several months ago, when the story made front pages all over the country that Mayer had offered $1,000,000 to Sam Riddle for the famous Riddle piece of horseflesh named "Man o War"? . . . The story was straightway denied . . . Well, yesterday John Lambert introduced Louis B. Mayer to Sam Riddle, their very first meeting . . .

FRANCHOT TONE'S "ILLNESS" ONLY REST CURE

By Louella O. Parsons

Franchot Tone

HOLLYWOOD, May 17. Franchot Tone's "illness" was just a few days' rest for he landed in Hollywood Saturday. He returns to his alma mater M-G-M, on a two-picture deal, and almost as soon as he reaches here starts work. He will roll up his sleeves, forget his past displeasure at Hollywood and begin two roles in "Thunder Afloat," the Ralph Wheelwright Commander Hastings drama.

His acting partner, Wallace Beery, has already checked in with Producer J. Walter Ruben and their movie will start in real earnest as soon as a girl is cast. Both Jack Benny and Eleanor Powell wanted the role but Barbara Stanwyck has been tabbed for other movie assignments. I don't think Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is going to the theater. He was promised to be back on New York contract for a picture so Mr. M. will have to wait.

SMALL ITEMS OF HOLLYWOOD: Peggy Hopkins Joyce is all for Franchot Tone as a pal. La Joyce says that he is fresh enough with Mrs. Eva Gabor, let alone Mrs. Tone. Incidentally, Jack Howard, who is doing many of the Panama scenes for Maureen O'Sullivan and John Barrymore, just received a cable from Maureen saying she is homesick for New York. Tom Brown and Natalie Draper are also among the absentees. Van Cleave, who expects to be buried in the gay 90's, has had a set of his head with Grace Poggi. Mickey Rooney in New York getting all set with Lillian Long, a pretty chorine. The Pan Pacific send hail and farewell at a Trader Vic party honoring the "Goodbye, Mr. Chips" premiere. The Pan Pacs, who seldom go anywhere, were there as were the James Cagneys, Claudette Colbert, Ellie Morse at the Latz and Irving Berlin. Clara Bow and Rex Bell, who have been living at their ranch from time to time, left town over the week-end. Charles Boyer is over the Ile De France for home as Charles must work to keep danger of war. He always says if over the hardest there is any trouble. Nat Dorr and her groom, Jack Westrope will be reunited. Then I Hate Fergus would like Margaret Sullavan to play Scarlett. Louise Hall and Al Hall may tell it to the press here in New York.

LISTEN, WORLD!

You Can Do What You Want to Do

By Elsie Robinson

WHAT ARE YOU doing in life? YOU'RE DOING WHAT YOU WANT TO DO.

You don't believe that. You deny it with aggrieved yelps. You reel forth yards of evidence to prove that you're NOT doing what you want to do—that you're the victim of circumstances that Fate has gypped you and humanity double-crossed you.

You actually believe that evidence—just as I believe most of my excuses and alibis. But if you have the courage and honesty to face the facts AND A REAL DESIRE TO FACE THEM FOR YOUR OWN GOOD, you'll be forced to admit that what I say is true.

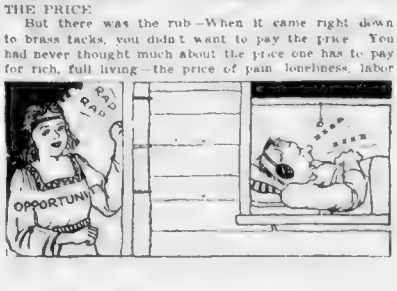
THERE ARE, of course, certain acts of Providence over which you have no control. You may be born crippled, or acquire a terrible injury. We'll discount such misfortunes although many a man has risen above them. We'll assume that your life has merely the normal handicaps. In that case, you may be sure of this:

YOUR LIFE, WHATEVER IT IS, HAS NOT BEEN SHAPED BY THE SHENANNIGANS OF FATE NOR THE MALICIOUS MANEUVERING OF HUMANITY . . . IT HAS BEEN SHAPED BY YOUR OWN DECISIONS . . . YOUR OWN DECISIONS OR EVASIONS.

You wanted to do splendid things in life. You wanted to be strong, adventurous, courageous, original in short, a superhuman. You felt that the seeds of all such grand achievement lay within you. And, as a matter of fact, they did.

YOU COULD HAVE BEEN THE THING YOU WANTED TO BE IF YOU WERE WILLING TO PAY THE PRICE.

But there was the rub—When it came right down to brass tacks, you didn't want to pay the price. You had never thought much about the price one has to pay for rich, full living—the price of pain, loneliness, labor and loss, risk and ridicule, misery and uncertainty. You knew that such conditions existed, but somehow you thought that YOU could skip by them.



So when opportunity presented itself and flashed a C. O. D. on you before it would deliver you, began to haggle and hedge.

It wasn't the right job. Or the boss wasn't fair. Or the family didn't understand you. Or you were still crippled by some old grief or remorse. Or you got mad.

THERE WERE a thousand reasons for evading that particular opportunity—for evading the price one must pay for any real opportunity. You thought of those reasons and you passed the opportunity and waited for the next one. And gradually the months and years slipped away and you found yourself living a life you hadn't planned to live. A dull, futile sort of life quite different from your rosy dreams. And now you love to blame everyone else for making you live that sort of life. But you alone are to blame.

YOU ARE LIVING THAT SORT OF A LIFE BECAUSE YOU WOULDN'T PAY THE PRICE FOR A BIGGER ONE.

Feet First Into Comfort

By ANNICE BRINK

EVEN IF YOU ordinarily stay out of flat-heeled shoes, everywhere except on a golf green, and then only because you'd be kicked off if you didn't wear 'em . . . this is one summer when you're going to have to own at least one pair.

Because you're going to walk and walk. Through the inspiration of the Fairs perhaps, we're turning into a nation of pedestrians. And a good thing, too, for all the little flabbinesses that settle on figures of those who ordinarily wouldn't walk to the corner for cigarettes.

Some of those who have already started their sightseeing and walking say another "must" besides comfortable shoes is a shooting stick. You know, one of those cane gadgets that unfolds to become a little seat for you. There are some straight canes anywhere in the grounds to get your weight off your poor feet whenever you wish.

[illegible] models we know above [illegible] Wonder Fair [illegible] and they say it fits the foot and looks like a glove. It's to be [illegible] of cloth and leathers. POOR Young PEOPLE

By MAY EDGINTON
Author of 'FAVORITE WIFE'

There were many like her, middle-aged women prolonging a precarious youth.

Who's Who and What's Happened:

DAY FLOWERS waited anxiously in her hotel room in London for her mother to arrive. She hadn't seen her in five years. She had spent the time with her wealthy school friends. When the phone rang it was her mother.

LAURA FLOWERS [illegible]. This is the most dreadful moment of my life. If she simply couldn't bear it if her mother still didn't want her. But when in the palm court of the hotel she [illegible] drinking a cocktail with a young man, whom she [illegible].

Before [illegible] at end of more Day realized with sharp disappointment that her mother hadn't changed. Peter tactfully [illegible] and Day told her mother she wanted to give up her job and take a business course. Laura made it clear that she could expect no financial help from her. She remembered [illegible] that she had sacrificed to send her to expensive schools to get the opportunity to make wealthy friends. Day's mother knew when she left school at 17 she went [illegible].

Before she [illegible] a school chum.

and gets what she likes to call unified effect."

BLUE HER COLOR

You see blue begins with her morning cotton and goes along the line through her formal party gowns. Of course here and there Peggy possesses an exception for the sake of variety.

And the blue is often contrasted with other colors. The young lady from Manchester wins the approval of her friends in a blue cotton spectator frock that has brown elephant skating here and there.

You've read and seen the sister act in other outfits, and the mother and daughter duets. But Peggy boasts fame and fame as twin-suits. They're pert in checked blue serge. Peggy's had a boiler suit in tweed skirt separate for morning and [illegible] spring. I predict the coming week will see patriotic and sailor dress. Peggy often dates those days in a blue frock and white navy pea jacket.

FAVORS TURBANS

For headgear, Peggy is spared no variety she favors in the form of trimmed jaunty that can be worn a la mode and a separate [illegible] hat.

Peggy dances every spring the winter season. Last night, when the [illegible] she wore an old [illegible] with a [illegible] [illegible] with [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Austen Lake:

Sox Stoic, Nova-Caine, Lippy's Lemon, Etc.

MAIN REASON WHY THE RED SOX picked up Lou Finney, ex-Athletic's Handy-Andy, was due to the physical suffering which Jimmy Foxx experienced in the West. Sturdy James should have been hospitalized two weeks ago. A chronic sinus gave him a constant blinding headache. He had a croup-chest-cough and a bone-bruise on his mitt-hand. His eyes looked like hot grapes. His complexion was mottled. Yet stoically he insisted on taking his daily turn and mirabile dictu, is hitting .417. Who says that the modern breed of business ball player lacks old time male hardihood?

Among the current publicity hokus being foisted on credulous sports writers is one about Lou Nova, heavyweight knuckle novice who is about to [illegible] Max Baer training on Yogi. Yogi as you may know, is an East Indian mysticism [illegible] mind from body, nerve harmony [illegible] and a state of cateleptic bliss. In other words Nova is [illegible] for a state of horizontal stupor similar [illegible] Max Baer who used to harden his head by bumping it against steam pipes. Wat'a fight! Wat'a pixilated pair!

By JOE CASHMAN

Jimmy Foxx was reported to be "resting comfortably but still too ill to receive any visitors" this morning.

Dr. James Conway, who ordered the Sox slugger to bed with a temperature of 102, has called sinus specialists in on the case and it's the consensus of these medical master-minds that their illustrious patient should remain in the Cardinal O'Connell House for several days.

Fans Alarmed Over Condition Of Foxx

A report that Jimmy Foxx was seriously ill apparently was traveling among baseball fans this morning, for a barrage of inquiries came to the office of the Boston Evening American.

The Red Sox office officially announced that Foxx' illness was simply a matter of a brief stretch in bed to rest up, and Dr. E. J. O'Brien, Jr., team doctor, said Foxx' condition had improved considerably.

The absolute ban on visitors and photographers, plus the news that Foxx' temperature had rocketed four degrees over normal yesterday, apparently helped cause the alarm for Jimmy's condition. Not even close friends were allowed to greet Foxx at the Cardinal O'Connell House.

Jimmy Foxx, who doctors claim will be out of the lineup for several days at least.

Diz' Comeback Boons Cubs' Hopes

Fireball Hot Again

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer.

By all odds the most [illegible] topic in baseball today is the return of Dizzy Dean and his $1e000 arm to the [illegible].

For a long time after [illegible] motoring in the wind at the [illegible] that [illegible] he would never be worth a [illegible] nickel to the Cubs.

"HARD ONE" O. K.

But ol' Diz fooled everybody as he so often found the [illegible] better and happier days.

Ol' Diz made his debut in a relief role and proceeded to [illegible] Dodgers and everybody [illegible] of the old Dean. Not [illegible] he did not allow a run. He gave only three hits. He [illegible].

But best of [illegible] occasion that he could [illegible] that high hard one [illegible] tests.

If his arm allows [illegible] from the performance he will have a large say in where the [illegible] flies this year because [illegible] only 75 per cent of [illegible] could still add [illegible] pitching staff of the [illegible].

HEADACHE FOR FOES

A pitching staff [illegible] Dean, Lee and Bryant [illegible] top speed, would [illegible] other clubs to laugh about.

Unfortunately for the Cubs, the Dodgers already had the game in the bag before ol' Diz shuffled out. By that time Cuyler had [illegible] sixth homer, the Dodgers had scored 12 times, and with Wyatt giving only four hits, they had no trouble winning, 12-2.

The inside story behind his return to Dartmouth has never before been told, but at the time when reporters were swarming around his rural haven while Harry holed up in a farm house, an enterprising, though unethical reporter, drove to a nearby telephone and called the hideout. "This Dean Neidlinger of Dartmouth," he told the answering voice. Harry came to the phone. "Harry," said the reporter in a fatherly tone, "President Hopkins and I think you have had time enough to decide. We think in order to escape further publicity, you should tell us now whether you will return to college and, if so, when. And whatever your decision is we want you to know that we are in complete sympathy with you. We know that this is your personal problem, but if you want to come back, Dartmouth will be glad to have you and you'll be treated with the same consideration every other boy is. Harry's voice choked. "Thank you, Dean," he said huskily to the bogus voice, "I'll come back tonight." He did! Frankie Genero to Return to Ring

Old-Time Heroes Short of Money

TING-A-LING!

It was Phil Bernstein of New York calling Mr. Boston. Remember Phil? He managed Frankie Genero of New York when the latter engaged in his famous bouts with Pancho Villa for the world's flyweight title.

"I have been in politics," said Bernstein, "which is why you have not seen me out front with any boxers. I have decided to pass up politics and return to the boxing game.

"I am managing 'Irish' Mickey O'Connor who I believe will eventually develop into a great lightweight."

I asked Bernstein what has become of Genero.

"He's around New York," was the reply, "and he is planning a comeback. He's 36 years of age and broke. When Frankie was in the big chips, he spent his money freely. Now he is going to try to win a new stake."

I DO NOT like to see these old-time boxers trying to come back. When a boxer has passed the age of 30, he is unable to fight anymore. This is particularly true of veterans who have been out of the game for a number of years. They gather ring rust with inactivity, and are easy marks for ordinary boxers.

Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo, now 34 years of age, recently received a license from the New York Athletic Commission. Slattery was a top boxer 14 years of age, but cannot expect to stage a comeback now.

Jimmy Braddock, rolling into his thirties, is going to box in England. At least Jimmy picked what should be a good spot for his return to the ring. In England, Len Harvey, Jack Doyle and that grade of boxers are rated at the top. Even the aged Braddock should be able to take care of himself against that kind of mediocre opposition.

REFEREE RAY Dolan told Tony Canzoneri he ought to quit the ring following the former champion's ten-round draw with Nick Camarata in New Orleans. Referee Dolan declared that if Canzoneri doesn't quit there is danger of his going blind.

Old boxers often take as much punishment in half a dozen rounds as they did in 20 bouts when they were at the peak of their ability.

Jack Sharkey is one boxer who realizes he can no longer fight. The other night at the Garden Lou Smith suggested to Sharkey that if he re-entered the ring he probably could beat Tony Galento.

"Maybe you're right, Lou," said Sharkey, "but I am not going to try to fight again. I found that out the night I was beaten by Joe Louis. I knew what I wanted to do, but my muscles would not respond to the orders they received from my brain.

"That was why Louis knocked out Max Schmeling so quickly in their last bout. Max was an old man, and old men cannot fight."

There should be some form of compulsory saving for athletes. It seems unfortunate that boxing, baseball and golf stars who have earned thousands of dollars should end up broke, and then as mediocre performers return to the sports over which they formerly ruled.

Babe Ruth was fortunate in saving a great deal of money during the closing days of his baseball career. For years the Babe spent his money freely, and was finally stricken with a condition that required an operation. When in the hospital, Ruth thought he was through as a ball player. He was without surplus funds at the time.

When Ruth returned to baseball, he readily agreed to have part of his salary set aside in annuities. Ruth then had the good fortune of lasting for a number of more years with the Yankees. The result is that Ruth gets $15,000 a year income.

The trouble with most athletes is that they earn their money too easily and at a time when they do not realize the value of money.

Boxers and ball players have not been the only spendthrifts of sport. In the golden days top golfers often earned $25,000 to $100,000 a year. One of the highest priced professional golfers used to get a thrill playing golf in all parts of this country and in Europe, and in spending his huge earnings as fast as he received them.

It all came under the heading of fun, and it went with that daffy period in American life.

It now may well be argued that sports does not owe these old heroes anything, that they were paid off well, but yet their mistakes were common ones that went with the times.

Budge Seeks Von Cramm For Net Tour

By the Associated Press

Observation Ward: Mickey Walker begins a nation-wide hunt for a heavyweight white hope at Hagerstown, Md., June 7. He will try to pick up expenses by boxing two-round exhibitions with local cut-ups at each stop . . . Van Mungo will lay you dough his roommate, Coach Bill Killefer, will lead both the National and American Leagues in snoring . . . Tickets for the 1940 Olympics at Helsinki, Finland, go on sale here today.

JOB FOR BUDGE

One of Don Budge's tasks aboard will be to try to talk Baron Von Cramm into joining up for a pro tour next year . . . Joe DiMaggio's M. D. thinks he'll have Joe ready to go against either the White Sox or Indians this weekend . . . Doc Prothro has the toughest walk in the majors—just to see him jump it across the field makes a guy feel like reaching for his gun.

Bill Terry and Jimmy Wilson had dinner together the other night and Bill was telling how cold and damp it was down there near the cellar . . . "Are you telling me?" asked Wilson . . . "I was in there five years."

Attention, Seattle: Solly Krieger has made up with Promoter Nate Druxman and will be out there to fight Al Hastak June 27.

Harry Mehre is trying to get his U. of Mississippi Rebels on Notre Dame's 1944 (that's right) schedule . . . Bantamweight Champ Sixto Escobar hit New York with Luis Rogi, a red-haded Puerto Rican welter in tow . . . The job Rogers Hornsby is doing at Baltimore is getting rave notices around the International League . . .

ART SHIRES IN TEXAS

Old Art (What-a-Man) Shires is refereeing wrestling matches in Texas and getting top billing . . . One song barred in the Yankee clubhouse these days is "I can't Get to First Base With you." It was authored by Mrs. Lou Gehrig.

A Western editor read over the list of authors, scientists, Yogi teachers, et cet. Lou Nova is hobnobbing with at Nyack and inquired: "Is that buy training for a fight or to get on 'Information Please?' "

Robert to Meet Sonnenberg

With Yvon Robert, former world's world's champion and recently returned from Europe, signed to wrestle Dynamite Gus Sonnenberg, another ex-champion, in the main event, Paul Bowser announced he will stage an all-star tournament at the Boston Garden Thursday night, May 25.

Six bouts will complete the card. Under the Robert-Sonny clash will be Marvin Westenberg, ex-Shadow and former champion, vs. Lord Albert Mills of England; Ben Shalon, Jewish champion and refugee, vs. Whitey Grovo, cowboy from Brimstone, Ariz.; Ernest Franz Heffner, German ace, vs. Len Macaluso, All-America grid star from Colgate; Steve Dilboy, Greek, vs. Frenchy LaRue; and Tom Casey vs. Rebel Bob Russell.

Robert will be making his first start here since his European invasion, which saw him defeat Henri DeGlane in Paris.

Justin Yozell Able Horseman

Justin Yosell, a senior at Norwich University, military college, Northfield, Vermont, captured the first prize in the most difficult jumping events—the triple bar jumps, which was about 6 feet wide and 3 feet high, at the Winchester horse show. Some of the best jumpers participated in this event.

He also won second in the "touch and out" jumping event, and third in the championship jumping contest. He rode "Marlene," the horse Mr. Yozell rides.

Bloodie Ryan got third in the professional bareback jumping contest with "Marlene," Mr. Yosells horse.

June Yozell, sister of Justin, won a number of ribbons at the show, riding "Cedarbrook Madeline MacDonald." She won 3d in the model saddle horses, 2d in riding competition under 17 years, 4th in saddle horses under 15.2, and 2d in ladies saddle horses.

Henry Yozell is planning to exhibit his horses at the Dedham Horse Show, May 30. Justine will come from Norwich especially to ride Mr. Yozell's "Marlene" and will bring his own jumper "Lorna". Juns will also ride at Dedham.

RINALDI VICTOR

NEW YORK, May 17 (AP)—Johnny Rinaldi won a close eight-round decision over Bernie Friedkin of Brooklyn in the final indoor fight show of the season.

Clocker Picks Six at Belmont

The Clocker, race selector of the Boston Evening American, just missed sweeping the entire card at Belmont Park, New York, yesterday when he picked six winners out of a seven-race card.

Clocker's winner included One Round, 7-5; Star Gallia, 12-1; Wise Bee, 7-10; Hash, 13-5; Calenquest, 5-2, and Postage Due, 13-5. The latter was The Clocker's best bet.

At Churchill Downs Clocker picked three winners, including Wim Wam, best bet at $11.60; Johnnie Nuchols, $5.80, and Copper Rod $9.80.

Over at Suffolk Downs three more winners were given to race fans. They were Golden Fate, best bet at $6.40; Our Crest, $5.20, and Powers Gouraud, $5.60.

The Clocker's selections appear only in the Boston Evening American and Sunday Advertiser.

McCluskey Quits New York A. C.

NEW YORK, May 17 (INS)—Joseph McCluskey, the famous distance running star, and the New York A. C. have broken their association, it was revealed today.

McCluskey, holder of 10 national titles, broke his six-year affiliation by filing a petition for a transfer. Under A. A. U rules, he must run unattached for a year before becoming affiliated with a new club. It was believed McCluskey may be considering establishing a club of his own.

ENGLISH MAY QUIT

CHICAGO, May 17 (AP)—Elwood (Woody) English, utility infielder sold by the Chicago Cubs to the St. Louis Cards, said today he was undecided on whether he would report to his new club.

"I'll have to talk first with Branch Rickey (Cardinals' vice-president)," English said.

English retired from baseball last year after Brooklyn sold him to Cincinnati and resumed his career this spring after the Cubs bought him from the Reds.

The utility infielder had not participated in a Cub game since the season started. The disposition of English and option of Leonard Merullo, another infielder, to Moline of the Three-Eye League brought the Cubs within the 25-player limit.

DRIVE Safely Drink MOXIE

$25 WIN — $15 PLACE — $10 SHOW

with nothing else to do!!

Announcing the MOXIE Highway Sweepstakes

At last a contest with nothing to puzzle over, no slogan to write, picture to identify, name to guess or coupon to enclose. To enter the MOXIE Highway Sweepstakes all you must do is to ask any MOXIE dealer showing the Highway Sweepstakes sign for a car sticker, and put it on your car. Then you are in the contest,—may win one of the weekly cash prizes of $25, $15 or $10.

The makers of MOXIE New England's favorite carbonated beverage, firmly believe that something must be done to reduce the dangers of highway driving, dangers that took 34,000 lives in this country in one year. To encourage the habit of driving safely, MOXIE wants your car to carry a MOXIE "Drive Safely" sticker. To make it worth your while, we offer you cash prizes in the MOXIE Highway Sweepstakes,—and all you have to do is have the sticker on your car, and drive safely.

Every Saturday beginning May 27th, and until the end of the Sweepstakes is announced, the easily identifiable MOXIE Man will appear at three unannounced and different spots on main roads within 50 miles of Boston. For example his appearances might be on Route 1 near Topsfield, on Route 20 near Marlboro, on Route 18 near Abington. At each appearance he will make cash awards to the drivers of the first cars to approach him on his side of the road, showing the MOXIE sticker, and driving carefully.

The first award each Saturday will be the "Win" award of $25, the second award will be the "Place" award of $15, and the third will be the "Show" award of $10. Cash awards will be made right then and there. There are no catches, no tricks, nothing to do but show the MOXIE sticker on your car, drive safely, and be lucky enough to be the first car along after the MOXIE man appears.

Don't delay,—MOXIE car stickers are going to be in demand. Drop in at your favorite MOXIE dealer, or any dealer showing the MOXIE Highway Sweepstakes sign on his window, and get your sticker today. No matter what the occasion, remember that MOXIE refreshing goodness never varies; its sparkling tang is the taste of pure refreshment. When you are warm, tired, or thirsty enjoy a lift the healthful way.

The Moxie Highway Sweepstakes is open to everyone except employees of the Moxie Company, its advertising agency, and their families.

Custody Fight On—With her parents having no say as to her custody, little Pamela Johnson, 3, pedals unconcernedly as her two grandmothers battle for her permanent custody. As things stand, each has her for six months a year. STORY ON PAGE 5
